Golfing for Literacy in Saskatoon

September 16, 2009 --- READ Saskatoon, along with our partner Affinity Credit Union, invite you to help us increase awareness of literacy issues in our community.

Join CBC Radio's Shelagh Rogers, and Mike DeGagné from the Aboriginal Healing Foundation, as together we raise funds for literacy at the 2009 READ Saskatoon PGI Golf Tournament.

PGI GOLF TOURNAMENT DETAILS:

- Friday, September 18th
- Shotgun Start 10:00 a.m.
- Literacy Awards Banquet 4:00 p.m. 2009 Saskatoon PGI Poet Laureate Carrie Catherine will close the day with a poem written to celebrate the PGI. The Adult Learner Award will be presented and the Gzowski Award will be given to the golfer who has come to celebrate literacy in the spirit of the event.

About the PGI

The PGI tournaments were founded in 1986 by the late Peter Gzowski, a well-known radio host and advocate for literacy. The PGI's are known for their music, poetry and laughter. PGI Golf Tournaments for Literacy happen in every province and territory across our nation. PGI's are organized by a local committee and every dollar raised stays in the community to support local literacy programs. For more information on the PGI, to purchase tickets for the auction, and to register for the tournament, visit www.READSaskatoon.com.
